Momentum Grows for Statewide Government Transparency with Over 915 Local Government and School Districts Partnering with OhioCheckbook.com

Press Release - Ohio Treasurer's Office

LOUDONVILLE – Ohio Treasurer Josh Mandel announced today the launch of the Village of Loudonville's online checkbook on OhioCheckbook.com. In December 2014, Treasurer Mandel launched OhioCheckbook.com, which sets a new national standard for government transparency and for the first time in Ohio history puts all state spending information on the internet. OhioCheckbook.com recently earned Ohio the number one government transparency ranking in the country for a second year in a row.

The Ohio Treasurer's office was joined at today's announcement by Village of Loudonville Mayor Steve Stricklen, Fiscal Officer Elaine Van Horn and State Senator Larry Obhof. Loudonville is the first village in Ashland County to post their spending on OhioCheckbook.com.

Loudonville's online checkbook includes over 21,600 individual transactions that represent more than $8.2 million of total spending over the past three years.

"I believe the people of Ashland County have a right to know how their tax money is being spent, and I applaud local leaders here for partnering with my office to post the finances on OhioCheckbook.com," said Treasurer Mandel. "By posting local government spending online, we are empowering taxpayers across Ohio to hold public officials accountable."

"The Village of Loudonville is pleased to participate in the OhioCheckbook.com program in support of the Ohio Treasurer of State's transparency and accountability in government initiative," said Mayor Steve Stricklen.

"We were willing to join OhioCheckbook.com in an effort to provide our residents with this great online resource for easier access to public records with no cost to the Village," said Fiscal Officer Elaine Van Horn. "Although Village detailed public records have always been and will remain available for public inspection in the Fiscal Office at any time, the ability for residents to view them online provides another avenue to be informed of local government operations."

"By participating in OhioCheckbook.com, Loudonville officials are holding themselves to a higher standard and today we applaud them for their commitment to public transparency and accountability," said State Senator Larry Obhof.

On April 7, 2015 Treasurer Mandel sent a letter to 18,062 local government and school officials representing 3,962 local governments throughout the state calling on them to place their checkbook level data on OhioCheckbook.com and extending an invitation to partner with his office at no cost to local governments. These local governments include cities, counties, townships, schools, library districts and other special districts.

OhioCheckbook.com was launched on December 2, 2014, marking the first time in Ohio history when citizens could actually see every expenditure in state government. Since its launch, OhioCheckbook.com has received overwhelming support from newspapers and groups across the state and, as of October 19, 2016 there have been more than 647,000 total searches on the site.

OhioCheckbook.com displays more than $552 billion in spending over the past eight years, including more than 151 million transactions. The website includes cutting-edge features such as:

- “Google-style” contextual search capabilities, to allow users to sort by keyword, department, category or vendor;
- Fully dynamic interactive charts to drill down on state spending;
- Functionality to compare state spending year-over-year or among agencies; and,
- Capability to share charts or checks with social media networks, and direct contact for agency fiscal offices.

In March 2015, the U.S. Public Interest Research Group (U.S. PIRG) released their annual “Following the Money 2015” report and Treasurer Mandel earned Ohio the number one transparency ranking in the country for providing online access to government spending data. Ohio was prominently featured in the report after climbing from 46th to 1st in spending transparency as a result of Treasurer Mandel’s release of OhioCheckbook.com. Due to the launch of OhioCheckbook.com, Ohio received a perfect score of 100 points this year – the highest score in the history of the U.S. PIRG transparency rankings.

In April 2016, U.S. PIRG announced that Treasurer Mandel earned Ohio the number one government transparency ranking in the country for the second consecutive year in a row. Due to the launch of OhioCheckbook.com, Ohio again received the highest perfect score of 100 points this year – marking the second time in two years Ohio received the highest possible score in the history of the U.S. PIRG transparency rankings.
